"Twenty-three and a Half Hours' Leave"

AMUSING ROMANTIC COMEDY

Adapted from the famous story by Mary Roberts Rinehart.

Fact was that Private Bill had arrived at her home in his B. V. D. ! And she was the general's daughter! Of course, he hadn't been invited; in fact, he was confined (?) in barracks and buried in disgrace. But what were trifles like that to Bill Gray when he had to win a girl and a bet! Did he do it? You'll say so! Nothing about war, but a lot about youth and love and stirring adventure. And enough big, exciting laugh mix-ups for half a dozen pictures.

OSTEOPATHS OBJECT

Rutland, Aug. 19.—The Vermont State Osteopathic Association has adopted resolutions protesting against the action of the Social Education Committee of the National Young Women's Christian Association because in its health center movement it has violated the principle of democracy, discriminating against osteopathic physicians.

The National Red Cross also comes in for lively criticism by the Vermont Osteopathic Association, which has just adopted resolutions denouncing the "flagrant injustice" of the Red Cross in denying legally authorized physicians the privilege of serving the afflicted by excluding them from serving in American Red Cross emergency hospitals.

"Rank discrimination" against legal and qualified osteopathic physicians and surgeons is claimed by the Vermont Association regarding the organized conspiracy to bar out osteopaths from all medical hospitals.

MYSTERY IS DEEPEDED

Suicide of Brother of Suspect in the Johnson Case

Johnson, Aug. 18.—Homer Anealand, 55, brother-in-law of Arthur Mudgett, who is now confined to Hyde Park jail awaiting a hearing, charged with the murder of Miss Amy Shonko, whose body was found Tuesday, August 3, in the rear of the cemetery here, committed suicide by shooting himself through the head shortly before six o'clock this morning.

Anealand, who is employed here as a farm hand by Oscar McGrawland, went to the barn this morning before five o'clock as usual to do the morning chores. He did not return at six for breakfast and his wife became anxious. She waited for some time and as he did not return she notified neighbors in the vicinity. She told States Attorney Tracy later that she knew something of the kind had happened and was afraid to go to the barn. The neighbors who went with her found Anealand lying on the floor of the barn with a revolver in his hand. He had evidently intended to hang himself as a large rope was tied around his neck.

Anealand's self-inflicted death considerably deepens the mystery murder of Miss Shonko. Mudgett has nothing to say regarding his being held, with the murder. States Attorney Tracy stated this morning that he had been expecting something of this kind for some time as Anealand had been apparently worried and in an unusually nervous condition for some time. Anealand was a life long resident of Johnson. He married Mudgett's sister many years ago and has a married son. Attorney Tracy said today that he and Mudgett had not been on speaking terms for some time.
